

This course focuses on the origin, development, philosophy and constitutional basis of evidence. The course also covers constitutional and procedural considerations affecting arrest, search and seizure. It deals with kinds and degrees of evidence and rules governing admissibility. It includes judicial decisions interpreting individual rights and case studies viewed from a conceptual level.

enter code

one
one
one

Transferable