

MUSC 039G: Applied Music

This course is intended for music majors who are interested in the study of music. The course covers the history and theory of music, including the study of musical notation and the analysis of musical forms. The course is designed to provide students with a solid foundation in music theory and to prepare them for advanced study in music.

Unit 1:

Introduction to Music Theory

Music Theory: Fundamentals

Music Theory: Advanced

Music Theory: Final Project

Transferable Credits

Course Objectives